Yesterz,000 cars, and corn snippers atone com-plain of a shortage of about 500 cars. The movement of corn is now in full swing, and there is increased transpor-tation of flour, coal, and ordinary mer-chandise. It is estimated the demand for coal and corn will not be supplied for months to come, and that all roads car-rying those products will show increased earnings during the usual dull months of February, March, and April.

The signing of the resolution approving the franchise of the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel under the city of New York is the beginning of an enterprise which will cost $50,000,000 at least, and probably 20 per cent more before completion. The building of the tunnel will be cred the completion. pletion. The building of the tunnel will be one of the greatest engineering feats known, and will take three years or more. The entire scheme has been opposed with great stubbornness by a strong minority of the board of aldermen, and there have been stories pregnant with fraud circulated against the opposition. It has been stated that all reports as to the building of an enormous hotel and theater to be run in connection with the principal terminal station are entirely without foundation. Mr. Rea, one of the vice presidents of the road, will have charge of the work, and he has announced that the plant are not entirely perfected.

The recent convention of the Bankers' Association in New Orleans approved the scheme of Secretary Shaw as to elastic currency, and believe if will be of great value to the whole country. The contraction in currency comes every fail, and with a known relief this string-ency may be avoided. In theory the scheme is feasible, but all theories require the test of a practical demonstration.

January Cotton, Dec. 22, 1902

Having from early in the season advised the purchase of cotton for January delivery in New York, and still believing that the stock of cotton now here is worth much more than the present prices of January contracts and cntirely disproportionate to the existing short interest, I take this means of suggesting to those who hold January contracts that they will consult their own best interests by arranging to take up and pay for their cotton. I would further inform those who have not yet made such arrangements that I have advised all members of the New York Cottor Exchange that I shall on Monday next and Exchange that I shall on Monday next and thereafter until further notice be pleased to "loan places" on any notices for the delivery of January contracts, thus rendering it unnecessary that any holder of contracts for the delivery of cotton in January should be summarily sold out upon notice to the advantage of those who may be short.

It has not infrequently happened in the past that a tender of a few thousand bales of cotton has been used to compel the liquidation of a far larger quantity of contracts. It is my purpose that in the present instance no such inequitable procedure shall obtain. I shall be pleased to have any holders of contracts for January delivery of cotton communicate with me in condence, in their own interest, either by mail or wire.
